New Tinker Bell

Last month a new Tinker Bell was released titled "A Touch of Magic". The figurine is based on the Disney Television program "Wonderful World of Disney". Margi Wray, a new sculptor for the Walt Disney Classics Collection, has made the new Tink especially for Disney Visa Cardmembers.

Tinker Bell has a very sharp price (only USD 99,-) and can be ordered until March 31, 2006. There is, however, a disadvantage for European collectors: the figurine is available only for US citizens for they are the only ones who can get a Disney Visa Card. The non-US collectors have to get their figurines on the Secondary Market and it is very likely they have to pay a higher price than the issue price.

New ornaments

Last August Enesco has released new ornaments. Once again, the "It's a Small World"-series plays the main part! No less than eight ornaments will be available: the children from France, USA, Mexico, Japan, Tahiti and Mexico and also two sets consisting of two toy soldiers or the Flag Ship and Glockenspiel.

The issue price will be USD 29,- per ornament or ornament-set. The price in Euro's will be around EUR 29,-.

WDCC Gossip

The latest rumor concerns the "Dreams Come True"-series: it is expected that 2006 will bring us a new figurine of Cinderella and the prince. Last year, during the special dealer forum, the concept drawing of Cinderella was chosen after Pinocchio and Gepetto (the first figurine of the "Dreams Come True"-series). The concept drawing showed Cinderella and her prince on the balcony during the ball.

4th Quarter figurines

Soon the sculptures of the 4th quarter will be revealed to the public. Although we do not know exactly which figurines are coming, we can give you some information.

A new Bambi scene will be available as well as figurines of Randall and Boo from the Disney/Pixar coproduction Monsters, Inc. The rumors on Edna (The Incredibles) proved to be right: she will be released coming November.

The Spotlight Collection grows further with sculptures Goofy, Mickey and the Cheshire Cat (Alice in Wonderland). Collectors can also expect stand alone figurines of Chip 'n Dale, It's a Small World and Chicken Little (the newest and soon to be released Disney feature).

As an exception we will send to our newsletter-subscribers an extra newsletter this month with extra information on the new releases.

First retirement "It's a Small World"-series

Oniisama and Oneesama, the Japanese boy and girl from the "It's a Small World-series", have been retired. Their retirement became effective on August 19, 2005.

This very successful set is the first from the series that has its molds destroyed.
