Third quarter!

Finally, we were no longer kept in the dark: the third quarter was announced and it promises to be a great quarter.

July will bring us the last sculpture of the Holiday Princess series: Cinderella.

Australia is honoured with a release in the It's a Small World series of an Australian boy and a Koala bear. This month there will also be releases from

A Nightmare Before Christmas (Scary Teddy and Killer Duck), Finding Nemo (Jacques) and A Bug's Life (Dot).

August will be the month of several new characters: Roger and Anita from a completely new scene steal the show. This Gold Circle Dealer Exclusive figurine will be released in a numbered and limited edition of only 1,000 pieces.

The Genie from Aladdin is a highly desirable character and Ruben Procopio has done a wonderful job in creating the Genie in this pose.

The Disney Classic Tarzan is honoured with a set of Sabor and Tarzan (released in a limited edition of 750 sculptures). This set is part of the Heroes and Heroines series.

Some say September is the most exciting month when the Walt Disney Classics Collection is concerned, especially with the release of a new Pinocchio scene. Pinocchio is created with Jiminy and Lampwick at the pooltable just before Lampwick turns into a donkey.

The Fish Tank scene from Finding Nemo gets some new accessories: the Tiki Hut and Tiki Heads.

Traditionally September is also the month of the Fall Premiere Event. The Event will be held from September 22 until September 24. The main part is played by Cruella: she is released in a numbered and limited edition of 3,500 pieces.

You can read about the event on the events page.

A complete overview of the third quarter with pictures and additional information can be found on our releases page!

The marketplace

We have added a completely new feature to our website!

On our marketplace we sell sculptures from our own private collection. At least once every half year we browse through our collection and we pick those sculptures that do not fit in (anymore). These sculptures are then sold at the marketplace and can be considered real bargains.

We also offer the possibility to other private persons to sell their collections or sculpture(s) through our marketplace. Interested? Please send us an e-mail: info@getandcollect.nl.

Come and visit our marketplace: maybe you'll find something you like!

... to release a new set of Jasper and Horace, the two henchman of Cruella from the 101 Dalmatians, in 2007.

In Sketches of August 2006 we will be informed by the Walt Disney Classics Collection when they are released exactly and we'll see some pictures of the prototype sculptures.

In the Spotlights: Dreamfinder & Figment

It could be a new tradition: this year the Walt Disney World® Resort will have an event with Figment.

Figment was the hero of one of Epcot's rides: Journey into Imagination. This ride opened its doors on March 5th, 1983 and was close October 10th, 1998, but the characters are still very popular.

The ride was part of Future World in Epcot. In a cart visitors were guided on a fantastic journey created by one's own imagination.

The guide during this adventure was Dreamfinder: he created figments with the things he collected (like sunbeams, musical notes etc.).

During the ride the famous song by the Sherman Brothers was played: "One Little Spark".

The "real" Dreamfinder and Figment could often be found on Imagination Pavillion in Epcot.

The sculpture of this duo will only be available during a special event in Epcot (Walt Disney World® Resort) on September 9th, 2006. Tickets to this event are for sale at $350,- each: the sculpture (worth $199,-) is included in this price. During the event the sculptor, Bruce Lau, will be available for signings.

Figment is plussed with pewter wings and horns. Dreamfinder's glasses are made of brass wire.

Did you know ...

... there were no less than 6,469,952 Dalmatian spots painted in the Disney classic 101 Dalmatians.
